INTRODUCTION

BACKGROUND

The first annual statistical report on procurement by UN agencies in respect of operational activities, prepared by the Inter-Agency Procurement Services Office (IAPSO) of the United Nations Development Programme, was submitted to the 39th session of the General Assembly (Doc. A/39/417) in 1984. By resolution 39/220 the General Assembly established the need for recurrent reporting of such information on operational activities and encouraged organizations of the UN system to co-operate with IAPSO in this important exercise. This report is now compiled by the United Nations Office for Project Services as a of the partial-merger between UNOPS and IAPSO in 2008.

To obtain more complete reporting on operational activities, data on other components of technical cooperation, such as project personnel, United Nations Volunteers and fellowships was included as from 1991. Experience has shown that it has proven very difficult for a great number of agencies and UNDP field office to provide data on personnel components in the required format. Several UN agencies encounter difficulties in apportioning cost of the personnel components in view of insufficient links between administrative and financial records. Resulting in less than representative data being available for presentation in the Annual Statistical Report.

PREPARATIONS

Statistical data on procurement of goods and services and the personnel components for operational activities are requested from UN organizations. To facilitate collection and compilation of the large number of data, IAPSO provides pro-forma tables available from the IAPSO website, together with instructions for completing the reporting requirements.

ASR 2007

The 2007 Annual Statistical Report on Procurement (ASRP) was prepared by UNOPS, which has assumed responsibility for collection and compilation of UN system-wide procurement data following the partial merger between UNOPS and UNDP/IAPSO that took effect in January 2008.

The 2007 report analyzes procurement from developing countries and countries with economies in transition (DC/ET), and examines UN agency performance in response to General Assembly resolution 57/279 of January 2003 on Procurement Reform (paragraph 6), which encouraged UN organizations to increase opportunities for DC/ET vendors. Significant progress has been made toward achieving this objective (Figures iii – viii, below, provide details).

In addition, the 2007 Annual Statistical Report on Procurement looks at procurement by UN agencies from vendors that support the 'UN Global Compact'. This measures engagement by the UN system with companies that take corporate social responsibilities seriously, a consideration increasingly important in today's global marketplace. While UN agencies give no preferential treatment to Global Compact signatories, the percentage of registered Global Compact vendors receiving UN contracts is nevertheless on the rise.

The 2007 report compiles information supplied by 33 UN organizations. UNOPS relies entirely on the co-operation of the reporting entities. In general, response rates were satisfactory and data quality has improved with the use of better ERP reporting tools. Five UN entities did not provide data for 2007.

Whereas previous ASRPs distinguished between UNDP procurement under NEX and DEX and procurement by UNDP Headquarters, the new format reports on UNDP procurement as a whole (except UNDP/IAPSO).

Data are reported on goods based on countries of supply and on services based on locations of contractors' head offices. Moreover, procurement orders and contracts for services are reported by contract amount and not by expenditures incurred. Most UN agencies cannot report data based on country of origin of goods, or on actual expenditures at the present time.

Glossary of Terms

Procurement:	Refers to the acquisition of goods and services.
Goods:	Comprises both equipment and supplies.
Services:	Concerns subcontracts with contractors or consulting firms and does not include hiring of individual experts and consultants.
International Project Personnel:	Experts and consultants hired internationally for technical cooperation activities.
National Project Personnel:	National personnel of all categories, including experts and consultants, hired locally for technical cooperation activities.
United Nations Volunteers:	Volunteers administered by the United Nations Volunteers for technical co-operation activities and humanitarian assistance.
Fellowships:	Scholarships and study tours awarded to individuals for study and training within various operational activity programmes. Group training activities, seminars, etc., which do not involve individual award of a scholarship are not included.
Developing Country (DC)/ Economies in Transition:	Relates to a country for which UNDP provides financial/technical assistance. The list of countries is attached as Annex 2.
All sources of UN funding:	Covers technical cooperation and other development assistance from regular, extra budgetary and trust funds, as well as emergency, humanitarian and peacekeeping operations.
National Execution (NEX):	Operational arrangement whereby the recipient government assumes responsibility for execution of technical assistance projects and programmes, mainly under UNDP funding.
Direct Execution (DEX):	Operational arrangement whereby UNDP in special circumstances assumes responsibility and accounts for the performance of the execution of technical assistance projects and programmes, mainly under UNDP funding.
UNDP Funding:	Funds allocated to technical cooperation from core funds, special programme resources and UNDP administered trust funds such as the Global Environmental Facility (GEF) and Montreal Protocol, including cost sharing contributions.
Agency Programme (AP):	Funds allocated to operational activities from the regular programme of the reporting agency.

EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

(UN SYSTEM)

Total procurement of goods and services for operational activities of the UN system

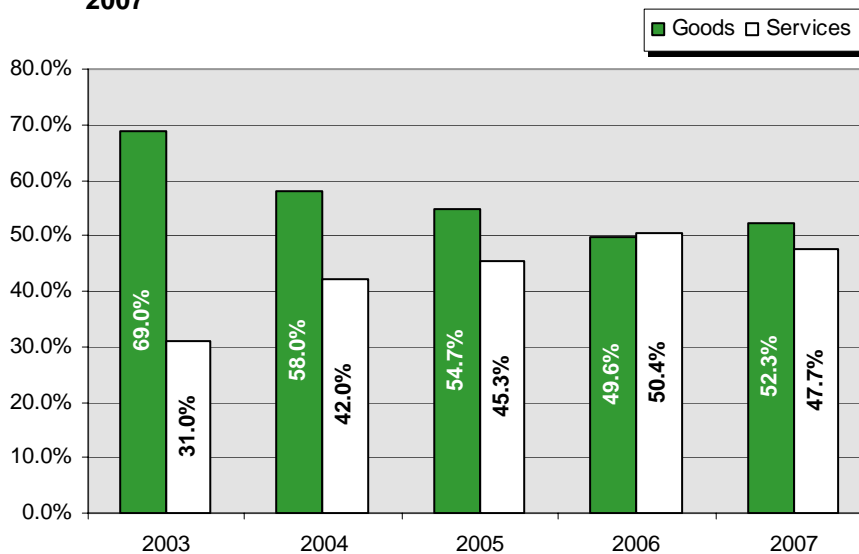

The overall procurement volume – goods and services combined – of UN agencies during 2007 increased to $10.08 billion from $9.4 billion in 2006, a gain of about 6.7%. Procurement of goods by UN agencies went up $608 million, a rise of 2.7% of total procurement volume, while procurement of services grew $71 million but decreased its share by 2.7% of total procurement volume. During the five years from 2003 to 2007 UN procurement doubled in volume from $5.07 billion to $10.08 billion primarily attributable to a growth in the procurement of services of $3.2 billion for the same period.

From 2003 to 2006 UN agency procurement of services rose as a share of total procurement, slightly overtaking the procurement share of goods in 2006. The 2007 data show a reversal of this trend, with the procurement of goods exceeding that of services by 4.6%.

Ten major countries of supply to the UN system 2007

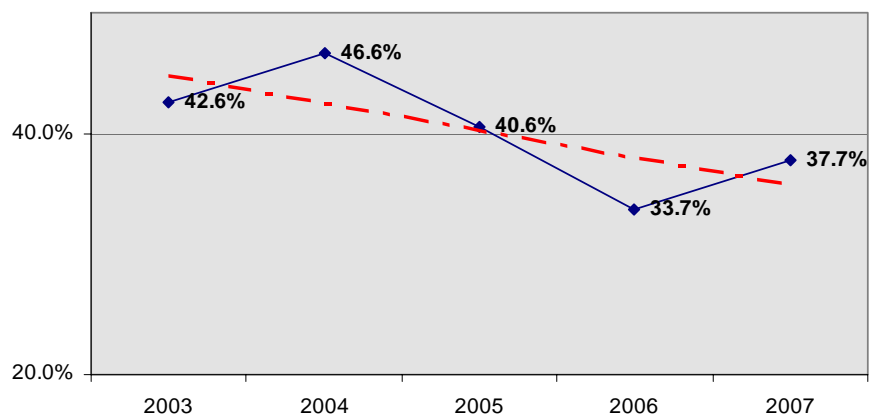

The ten major countries to supply UN agencies in 2007 included three developing countries – India, Panama and Afghanistan. India has featured in this list since 2000, and in 2007 was the second largest supplier to the UN system, with a 5.7% share of total UN procurement volume. Procurement from India includes pharmaceuticals, medical equipment, cold chain equipment and diagnostic test kits procured primarily by UNICEF. Procurement from Panama and Afghanistan mainly took the form of construction contracts executed with national vendors by UNDP and UNOPS respectively.

The percentage share of total goods and services procured from the top ten suppliers to the UN system decreased between 2003 and 2007 (see Figure iii). UN agency sourcing strategies therefore appear to be succeeding in broadening the general distribution of procurement opportunities to vendors.

Procurement by UN agency 2006 – 2007

The table below lists individual UN agency procurement volumes for 2006 and 2007. Data are presented by the percentage share from DC/ET. Of the 33 reporting UN agencies, 73% increased their procurement volume over the previous year. UNDP recorded the largest volume increase during the period, some $173 million, although UNDP's DC/ET share decreased by 7.4%.

Procurement from developing countries and countries with economies in transition

General Assembly resolution 57/279 of January 2003 on procurement reform (paragraph 6) encouraged UN organizations to increase sourcing opportunities for DC/ET suppliers. GA/RES/61/246 of March 2007 (paragraph 24) reiterated this request. In response UN agencies have placed more orders with suppliers from these countries. The growth of such orders has tripled in dollar terms from 2003 to 2007, as shown in Figure iv, below.

Although in 2007 procurement from DC/ET increased $198 million over 2006, their share of overall total procurement volume decreased by 1.3 %. Of note, procurement from DC/ET exceeded 50% of total UN procurement volume in both 2006 (54.93%) and 2007 (53.58%).

(as a percentage of total procurement volume)

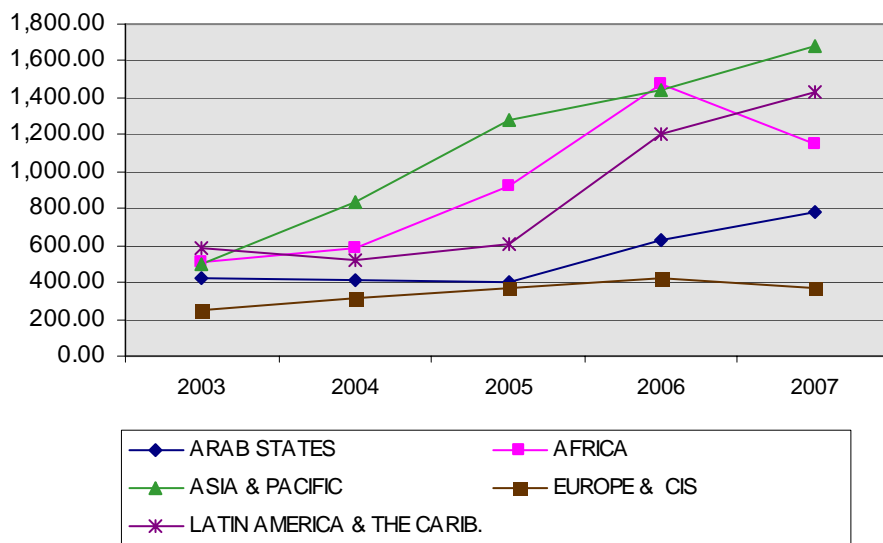

Procurement from developing countries and countries with economies in transition by region

Analysis of UN procurement from DC/ET by region since 2003 shows that rising total procurement volume has benefitted all regions. Except for Europe and the Commonwealth of Independent States, all regions have markedly increased their procurement business with UN organizations since 2005. While Africa experienced rapid growth in procurement business with UN from 2004 to 2006, its share declined from $1.47 billion in 2006 to $1.14 billion in 2007.

Regional data on percentage share of UN procurement from DC/ET also confirm that most regions have enjoyed a growth in procurement business. The Asia Pacific region's share of UN procurement has increased by 8.6% since 2000. The Latin America and Africa regions have increased by 3.6% and 3.1% respectively since 2000. The Arab States show a decrease of 0.5% for the period and the European Countries and CIS decreased their share by 1.4%.

Procurement from developing countries and countries with economies in transition by UN agency

The aggregate procurement by the 33 reporting UN agencies of goods and services from DC/ET increased 13%, from 48% in 2006 to 61% in 2007, indicating UN agency sourcing strategies have broadened the distribution of vendors.

The following graph presents the procurement, in percentages, by the 10 largest UN agencies by procurement volume (accounting for 91.6% of total procurement) from DC/ET in 2007, as well as the percentage change as compared with 2006. (Agencies are listed in descending order of actual volume, detailed in the section to the right in Figure viii, below.)

Top twenty developing countries and countries with economies in transition supplying UN operations in 2007

In total, procurement of goods and services from the top twenty DC/ET represents 33.7% of overall UN procurement volume, a rise of 1.0% over 2006. For a detailed overview of procurement volume trends, categories of goods and services procured, as well as UN agency shares for each of the countries listed in Table iii, below.

United Nations Procurement and the Global Compact

The United Nations, as the most universal and representative organization in the world, supports the struggle to achieve sustainable development — economic development, social development and environmental protection — at the local, national, regional and global levels. Organizations of the UN system have mobilized, individually and collectively, to help advance on this path. Procurement is doing its part in this joint effort, in cooperation with other initiatives of the UN.

One of the possible contributions to sustainable development comes from a novel way of looking at UN procurement of goods and services, which goes under the name of sustainable procurement. Procurement is called sustainable when an organisation uses its own buying power to give a signal to the market in favour of sustainability, basing its purchasing decisions on economic, environmental, and social considerations.

UN agencies, in cooperation with their suppliers, are increasingly trying to “buy for a better world”: looking beyond the traditional economic parameters, making decisions based on life-cycle costs, associated environmental and social risks and benefits as well as broader social and environmental implications, and helping producers - especially in the developing world - to become more efficient and competitive in larger markets.

Consequently, the Annual Statistical Report 2007 features and analysis of the participation of UN suppliers in the world's largest global corporate citizenship initiative, the Global Compact*.

In 1999, the United Nations Secretary General Kofi Annan challenged the business leaders gathered at the World Economic Forum in Davos to promote greater social and environmental responsibility in their business activity. He offered them a new compact of shared values and principles, to give a human face to the global market: the Global Compact.

The Global Compact is a framework for businesses that are committed to aligning their operations and strategies with ten universally accepted principles in the areas of human rights, labour, the environment and anti-corruption. As the world's largest, global corporate citizenship initiative, the Global Compact is a voluntary initiative, a learning dialogue and a platform for action.

*N.B. Being a signatory to the UN Global Compact does not provide a company preferential treatment throughout a procurement process. The procurement process as applied by UN organisations ensures that all prospective bidders are treated equally, fairly and in as transparent manner.

PROCUREMENT FROM GLOBAL COMPACT MEMBERS as a percentage of orders of USD 30,000 or more

The volume of procurement from Global Compact member is calculated considering only contracts of USD 30,000 or more. Therefore, when comparing these two categories, procurement from suppliers which are members of the Global Compact increased to 15,5% in 2007, from 12,32% in 2006.

Year	Total contracts of USD 30,000 or more	Procurement from Global Compact members	%
2006	6,141,905,953	756,737,958.78	12,32
2007	6,819,333,553	1,056,813,904.45	15,50

GLOBAL COMPACT SUPPLIERS GEOGRAPHICAL ORIGIN
according to the volume of orders

Global Compact membership is still limited among UN suppliers in developing countries, with the large majority of orders placed with Global Compact members located in developed countries, and especially in Europe.
